

NO MORE PROVOSTS HERE AFTER JAN. 15?

TO BE DEMOBILIZED WITH GREENLEAF.

Capt. Cole Does Not Know
Whether Provost Guards
Will Be Replaced.

It is reported that the provost guards stationed in Chattanooga under command of Capt. H. S. Cole will be demobilized about the 15th of this month. There are at present approximately 100 guards stationed in the city, including those on guard duty at the Florence Crittenton home, in St. Elmo.

When asked for a statement concerning this subject, Capt. Cole stated that the only thing he could say relative to the discharging of the guards is that they are a part of the medical camp at Camp Greenleaf, and that it already has been announced that the entire personnel of Camp Greenleaf would be demobilized by this time. While Capt. Cole has not received any definite orders along these lines, it is generally thought that the provost guards will leave Chattanooga, if not on the 15th, very shortly afterwards.

If the old provosts are discharged or relieved from duty in Chattanooga, it is not very serious, it is generally thought that the provost guards at the present time are not as numerous as they were in the past several months to keep conditions as they should be. The reports show that the number of arrests made during the past several months have varied quite a good deal and have increased slightly rather than decreased. The report for July shows 1,000 arrests, for August 1,200, for September 1,500, for October 1,800, and for the past six months shows 411 arrests.

LOCAL FLASHES

Will Meet Thursday.
The Jefferson Street Parent-Teachers' association will meet Thursday afternoon at 8 o'clock in the evening at the home of Mrs. J. H. Winder. The officers will be installed at this meeting and all members are urged to attend.

Miss Alsup Transferred.
Miss Isabelle Alsup has been transferred from the office of the city school superintendent, C. H. Winder, to the Chattanooga Public Schools, where she will act as secretary to Supt. Winder. She will be filled by Miss Edna Kendal.

Miss Barrett Will Return.
Miss Barrett, who has been visiting Mrs. J. H. Winder at Owensboro, Ky., will return home next Saturday. While there, Miss Barrett met the honoree of a number of parties.

Quiet New Year's Eve.
New Year's Eve was exceedingly quiet so far as the police and fire departments were concerned. Only seven offenders were registered at headquarters since early in the evening up to midnight. The quietude of the morning was interrupted by a call for the wagon at Ninth and Market streets, where Patrolman Joe Catlett had arrested Jim Adams, a laborer, on a charge of reckless driving. During the day, Patrolman Marion Perkins and S. S. Swafford arrested two negroes, one of whom was charged with storing a gun, while the other was charged with transporting.

Blocks Traffic.
Traffic at the corner of Tenth and Market streets was tied up this morning about 2 o'clock by a heavy truck belonging to the Peerless Creamery company, which was attempting to turn from Tenth street onto Market street. The heavy truck "died" and it took about twenty minutes to get it started. The truck was finally towed away and in addition the services of a street car were called for to get the truck a boost from the right of way.

Lieut. Hobday Safe.
Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Hobday, of Highland Park, have received a letter from their son, George H. Hobday, dated after the signing of the armistice, stating that he is safe in LaMont, France.

GYPSY ARRESTED

Bessie Stiner Must Answer Charge of Larceny.

For a time Wednesday consternation reigned in the local gypsy camp over the arrest by Patrolman J. H. Goudy and Garis of Bessie Stiner, aged 50, a member of the tribe, on a charge of larceny. The complaint against the woman was that she took charge of $2.55, the property of an old colored man who sought to learn from her some of the things desired by the future. She misused the money from his person and a little later Bessie, clad in her gaudy costume, was enroute to police headquarters. Following her arrest other members of the band visited the station to inquire about the matter.

WET FISHER & BRO. CO.

JEWELERS
DIAMOND MERCHANTS
SILVERSMITHS

107 Market Street
Main 1703

May the New Year Bring You Happiness and Prosperity

Fred Cantrell Co.

607 Market Street
Main 1703

Patience and Prosperity

Patience and Prosperity

Patience and Prosperity

Patience and Prosperity

Patience and Prosperity

Patience and Prosperity

GEN. EDWARDS DECORATES HERO

HE'LL SEE THAT JAPAN GETS HER SHARE

CHAMLEE GIVES NEGROES CHARACTERS

NOT GOOD ONES IN SIGHT OF LAW, HOWEVER.

Ninth Street Habitués Fall Into Tolls of Law in Old North State.

Obtained with the desire to wear good clothes, but minus the energy to earn them by the sweat of their brows, has caused Levi Harris and Fate Smith, two colored celebrities of the segregated area of East Ninth and Wall streets, to be interned for the period of investigation in the Charlotte (N. C.) Jail. The two East Ninth streeters journeyed to Charlotte to spend the Christmas vacation with friends, but, mixing business with pleasure, landed in jail. It is charged by the North Carolina authorities that the two negroes had returned temporarily in their city before they became possessed of articles for which they neither paid nor asked. After being arrested the negroes added twenty-four karat nerve to their other new transgressions. Harris, a native-born citizen of the North Carolina circuit, was charged with the theft of a gold watch from the Charlotte jail. Harris, a native-born citizen of the North Carolina circuit, was charged with the theft of a gold watch from the Charlotte jail.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

Gen. Chamlee has written the attorney-general that, outside of discharging energy to the extent which the law permits, he is not to be bothered by the law. Harris, outside of depending on the robbery of their fellow-men for a livelihood, both of Shelbyville, Ky., of the fellow-men of the negroes will say about them in this their time of dire need.

HEARING OF BIBLE SET FOR JAN. 13

DISCHARGED FIREMEN APPEAL TO COMMISSION.

Commissioner Betterton Says There Was Absolutely No Excuse for Collision.

After Commissioner Bass had broken an apparent deadlock between Mayor Littleton and Commissioner Betterton by motioning in terms acceptable to both, it was decided by the city commission yesterday afternoon to hear the appeal of Capt. A. B. Bible and Engineer C. D. Albright on the 13th of January.

The appeal, made following the action of Commissioner Betterton in discharging the men from the department, by holding them responsible for the recent collision at Sixth and Chestnut streets, involved points in the city charter about which there was much discussion. The commission, by holding them responsible for the collision, was causing the argument between Mr. Betterton and Mr. Littleton.

Mr. Littleton, after the commissioner of fire and police had read his report to the commission and a report from Chief Toomey and Assistant Chief Weigel, read a letter from Capt. Bible and Engineer Albright. Both letters denied violation of orders in making the run which resulted in the collision, though in the report of Chief Toomey and Mr. Weigel it was stated that Albright admitted taking the Sixth street route in violation of orders.

The mayor then moved that the appeal be granted and a date set for hearing. Mr. Betterton objected, saying that under the charter the commission had no alternative but to hold the men responsible for the collision, and that the city attorney was asked regarding the provisions of the charter, and he said that the right of appeal had been taken away when the civil service regulations were repealed. But Mr. Betterton pointed out that a clause had been embodied in the charter giving the right of appeal to the commission to hear appeals from the fire department, and that the city attorney was asked regarding the provisions of the charter, and he said that the right of appeal had been taken away when the civil service regulations were repealed.

Two Chiefs Make an Investigation.

The report of Chief Toomey and Assistant Chief Weigel was that every member of the two crews, except those on the injured list, had been examined. The report stated that the route taken by engine company No